Title: EXTREME RISK FIREARM PROTECTION ORDER CHANGES
Summary: House Judiciary Committee substitute for House Consumer and Public Affairs Committee Substitute for HB27 (HEM No 10) makes changes to the previous version of the bill that do not affect its intent. The second substitute clarifies the unique circumstance when an attorney employed by a District Attorney or Attorney General shall petition for an order, that is, when the respondent is a law enforcement officer. It adds law enforcement officers to the list of possible reporting parties who may request an officer to file a petition. The substitute eliminates the option for an oral petition to the court by the officer; petitions must be in writing. It clarifies that upon a respondent's request that the court terminate an order, the court shall schedule and issue notice of a hearing to the parties, and changes responsibility for providing for entry and removal of the order from the NCIC and other notice systems.

Scheduled: 02/09/2024—House Calendar, 10:00 a.m., House Chamber Meeting of 30 Jan 24: AOC noted, upon questions from staff, that they would have to look into the question of probate courts mentioned in one of the repealed statutes, and that the Court would consider under rule how bail decisions would be handled given the constitutional provision around courts of record and bail – this was part of the reason for the delayed effective date to July 1, 2025. The Court would also be working on rules for the whole appellate process in that time. Magistrate Judge noted that this provision was part of a larger bill that the Committee supported last Legislative Session. Upon a motion by AOC, seconded by Magistrate Judge, the Committee voted to support this bill by a vote of 7-3 (LOPD and two public members against), with three abstentions (AODA and two public members).

Comments: Meeting of 23 Jan 24: Members of the Committee, including AODA and DoJ, expressed concern about the prevalence of fentanyl in New Mexico communities and the dangers of fentanyl exposure for children. AODA commented that methamphetamine is not the largest problem anymore; fentanyl is the largest problem. Both AODA and DoJ remarked that fentanyl overdoses can occur from contact exposure to the drug. A public member inquired whether HB 106 includes fetal exposure to fentanyl; staff responded that the bill does not. Another public member raised concerns that the changes proposed in HB 106 presented vagueness and separation of powers problems. LOPD pointed out that the term “exposed to” is very broad; additionally, some household products can cause as much damage as fentanyl exposure but are not addressed by statute. LOPD also noted that the broad scope of the existing statute would probably already capture dangerous fentanyl exposure, and that while the appellate courts have not yet determined what constitutes exposure, it will surely be addressed eventually. AODA responded that exposure would likely be determined by a child testing positive for fentanyl as is the case presently with methamphetamine exposure under this statute. LOPD also commented that fentanyl can be prescribed to children and expressed concern that the bill does not exclude exposure to fentanyl that was legally prescribed. On a motion from AODA, seconded by DPS, the NMSC Legislative Committee voted to support this bill on a divided vote, 5 to 4 (LOPD and three public members against), with four abstentions (AOC, CYFD, Magistrate Judge, and a public member). The Committee decided to issue a Committee memorandum concerning this legislation.

Comments: Meeting of 30 Jan 24: NMCD noted that this was also a Governor’s bill, and that it is looking to increase penalties. DoJ noted that they had a hand in drafting this legislation – importantly, it also targets labor trafficking, as the current statutes are hazy on those charges, especially as they relate to the large amounts of debt that are held over people. Current law makes these kinds of dynamics in human trafficking hard to target. DoJ further note that it is not just child laborers, but that there were camps of such laborers popping up in the state. Chair noted that Bernalillo County DA Bregman has mentioned problems with human trafficking in a presentation he made to the NMSC earlier in the year. A public member raised concerns over the removing of the statute of limitations, which is a rare thing in criminal laws. On a motion from Magistrate Judge, seconded by a public member, the committee voted to table this legislation pending more information by a vote of 10-3 (Chair, AODA, and NMCD against). Meeting of 6 Feb 24: DPS explained to the Committee that this bill was developed as part of the work of the Organized Crime Commission, as the present statutes are not adequate for addressing human trafficking, especially in situations where people are smuggled and families are being extorted for the money owed to the smugglers. DPS added that there are more severe penalties under current law for trafficking guns and drugs than for trafficking people, and emphasized that human trafficking is a serious problem in New Mexico. DPS also noted that this legislation would close loopholes in the current human trafficking statute, strengthening its prohibition on labor trafficking and the accompanying extortion of families and individuals. A public member expressed concern about removing the statute of limitations for human trafficking and stressed that only the most serious offenses in the Criminal Code possess no time limitation for prosecution. The public member also voiced concern about House Bill 116's proposition that a court may preclude individuals convicted of human trafficking from being eligible for meritorious deductions; the member felt that NMCD ought to maintain autonomy over determining meritorious deductions, as those deductions can be a powerful motivator for good behavior during incarceration. On a motion from DPS, seconded by NMCD, the Committee voted to support this bill on a divided vote, with 5 voting to support (the Chair, the Juvenile Committee Chair, AODA, DPS, and NMCD), 3 against supporting (all public members), and two abstentions (the Magistrate Judge and one public member).

Comments: Meeting of 30 Jan 24: Committee discussion of this legislation centered on the many structural problems with the bill. There was an appreciation for the policy choices reflected in the bill, but committee members felt that the bill needed a thorough reworking in the interim, rather than trying to perfect this draft during a short Legislative Session. A public member with experience in this area of law expressed concern that defense counsel could have a conflict of interest if they were required to send a person to commitment, and that the new mandate that release at the two-year review hearings required a treatment plan and case management services to be in place could present constitutional issues. Members also discussed the deficit of treatment programs in the state, and the lack of available bed space at the NM Behavioral Health Institute in Las Vegas. On a motion from a public member, seconded by AODA, the NMSC Legislative Committee unanimously voted not to support this bill.

Comments: Meeting of 30 Jan 24: NMCD noted that adding cannabis as contraband in this statute is also part of the larger bill introduced this Session making changes to the Cannabis Regulation Act. In answer to questions, she informed the Committee that cannabis is considered contraband in NMCD policy, but that there has been a problem with prosecutions because cannabis is not covered in this statute. DoJ agreed, and noted that cannabis falling out of this statute was an unintended consequence of the Cannabis Regulation Act, as in that Act cannabis was removed from the Controlled Substances Act. Upon a motion by NMCD, seconded by AODA, the Committee voted to support this bill by a vote of 7-0, with six abstentions (AOC, LOPD, and four public members).

Comments: Meeting of 6 Feb 24: DPS informed the Committee that the state has not been in compliance with Federal sex offender registration requirements for some time, and that they support this bill as it would make the state compliant with Adam Walsh requirements. Four public members discussed concerns and had questions about the new requirements for juveniles to be registered, and how that relates to juvenile confidentiality. NMCD noted that the concern behind the bill was to bring the state into compliance with Federal requirements. A public member noted that there were 32 sex offense cases in CYFD in 2023. NMSC staff noted that when the Sex Offender Management Board was active, juveniles were left out of the bill that updated SORNA requirements for many of the reasons that had been expressed by members of the Committee; the SOMB was also worried about how the requirements intersected with tribal issues. She added that only 18 states were Adam Walsh compliant – Texas, for example, did not take the last two steps that would have been required for them, as although this means that they lost $2 million in Federal funding, it would have cost them $30 million to implement. No action was taken on this legislation.

Comments: Meeting of 23 Jan 24: DPS noted that they supported last year's version of this bill, as they have had problems recruiting officers. They met with the sponsor to work on changes, as there are problems with the poaching of officers from other law enforcement agencies in the state. This bill is an attempt to promote initiatives that recruit officers from out of state, by giving them service credit. AOC noted that the courts support this bill as they have had troubles as well in the hiring of security officers, most of whom are retired law enforcement officers. A public member expressed the wish that similar legislation could be passed that would allow all state agencies that are having trouble recruiting to use these sorts of initiatives. Upon a motion by DPS, seconded by AOC, the Committee voted to support this bill by a vote of 10-0, with three abstentions (LOPD, and two public members).

Comments: Meeting of 30 Jan 24: No action was taken on this legislation. NMSC informed the Committee that this facility is currently owned by the town of Clayton, the only one that is owned like that; Clayton is up to its eyes in $34 million in bonds. Staffing levels are 75% there, up from 40%. A public member noted that when he was part of Gov. Richardson's transition team, it was known that there was no need for a facility in Clayton, and that there was not a need for that level of security beds; the member added that putting inmates in Clayton usually means that they are far away from family, and that it was bad policy to buy the facility. Comments: Meeting of 30 Jan 24: AOC noted that this bill does a lot of things. Much of what it does is rearranging statutes connected to DWI. Part of the bill addresses issues raised by Birchfield v. North Dakota. The Court has concerns with limits to Magistrate Court jurisdiction. The bill breaks out DWI alcohol and DWI drugs, with the same penalties, but limits Magistrate Court jurisdiction for DWI drugs cases (with exceptions for Bernalillo County's Metropolitan Court and Doña Ana County, as there is an exception for counties with a population over 200,000). These limits to Magistrate Court jurisdiction could cause problems in District Court as more cases would flow there; this would include cases where the prosecution was awaiting the results of a blood draw, so they might plead the case in the alternative up to District Court. There could also be problems with probation and parole requirements. The Court was not opposed to the bill overall, but the particular elements mentioned were concerning. A public member noted that the presumptive level has been changed to 0.05 for alcohol; there is no presumptive level for drug use, no standard for what level of drugs means someone is impaired. There is no reliable science to determine levels of impairment for drugs, as there is with alcohol. Magistrate Judge agreed with AOC points, and expressed particular concern about the backlog this bill could cause in District Courts. Upon a motion by AOC, seconded by a public member, the Committee voted not to support this bill by a vote of 9-1 (AODA against), with three abstentions (DoJ, DPS, NMCD).
